Short Description

Cannabis Strain: Mac & Gary

The cannabis strain "Mac and Gary" is a captivating hybrid created by crossing the strains MAC 1 (Miracle Alien Cookies) and Gary Payton.

- Genetic Lineage: A cross between MAC (Miracle Alien Cookies) and Gary Payton.
- Type: Primarily Indica-dominant hybrid, often described as 80% Indica / 20% Sativa.
- Effects: Known for its potent effects, often delivering both mental clarity and physical relaxation. Users report feelings of euphoria, happiness, relaxation, and a potential for increased focus and creativity. It can also induce "the munchies". While generally relaxing, the Sativa component prevents a complete "couch-lock" experience.
- Aroma and Flavor: It boasts a distinct aroma and flavor profile. Expect sweet and creamy notes, hints of citrus and spice, along with earthy, piney, and woody undertones. Some reviews also mention skunky, floral, and cheesy notes.
- Terpene Profile: Dominant terpenes identified in Mac and Gary include Beta-myrcene (earthy, sedative), Beta-caryophyllene (spicy, potentially anti-inflammatory), Limonene (citrusy, uplifting), Alpha-humulene (woody), and Pinene (piney).
- Potency: Mac and Gary is considered a potent strain with a high THCa content, often reported to be around 24.91%. Some sources report total cannabinoid potency up to 26.37%.

- Best Uses: Ideal for evening relaxation and winding down. Can also be used during the day for creative activities or social settings, especially at moderate doses.
  Potential Side Effects: Common side effects may include dry mouth and eyes, drowsiness (particularly at higher doses), and increased appetite (munchies).

In essence, Mac and Gary offers a balanced experience that combines the relaxing, body-calming effects of an Indica with a touch of mental uplift and clarity from its Sativa lineage. The flavor profile is complex, with a mix of sweet, creamy, earthy, pine, and spicy notes. It's a potent strain, so first-time users should start with a small dose.
